

[Download free ebook] 1,001 Things They Won't Tell You: An Insiders Guide to Spending, Saving, and Living Wisely

1,001 Things They Won't Tell You: An Insiders Guide to Spending, Saving, and Living Wisely

Jonathan Dahl, Editors of Smart Money
audiobook | *ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC

1,001 THINGS THEY WON'T TELL YOU

An Insider's Guide to Spending, Saving, and Living Wisely

Advice from professionals on health care, education, finance, automobiles, house and home, insurance, goods and services, travel, entertainment, pets, food and drink, and much, much more.

BY JONATHAN DAHL
AND THE EDITORS OF SmartMoney
The Wall Street
Journal Magazine

Copyrighted Material

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#1349661 in Books 2009-05-13 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.00 x 1.25 x 6.00l, 1.60 #File Name: 0761151370544 pages | File size: 63.Mb

Jonathan Dahl, Editors of Smart Money : 1,001 Things They Won't Tell You: An Insiders Guide to Spending, Saving, and Living Wisely before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised 1,001 Things They Won't Tell You: An Insiders Guide to Spending, Saving, and Living Wisely:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. This Book Makes You ThinkBy SAWMakes a great gift for the person that has "everything". Lots of good information! 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. A very good read! By Momty When I was reading SMART MONEY, THE WALL STREET JOURNAL MAGAZINE, "1,001 Things They Won't Tell You" I just knew I had to buy it. There was so much information, I had to sit back in my chair and think about some of the things that has happened to me in the past. I was impressed with the information. It has kept me on my toes. 2 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Read for interest and amusement! By Jack Tan This is a compilation from Smart Money magazine by Jonathan Dahl. Some money saving insights include: 1. There is no necessity to get your dog or cat vaccinated every year unless they are puppies, 2. Many merchandise stated as organic does not fulfill the intended meaning of organic and so we are duped into paying premium for them, 3. What constitute antiques and many of us were ripped off, 4. That your romantic dinner is closely watched. However, many of the sharings are common sense or just not practical because of rigged pricing in our market. When reading this book, you will find that it was written with the Americans and its market in mind. Jonathan Dahl could have done more research into the practices of other countries or continents to complement these extracts from Smart Money. In addition, I have reservation on the use of English. I recommend skimming through the pages for facts and web reference.

Are you getting the most for your money? 1,001 Things They Wont Tell You offers the experts' knowledge on 100 industries and institutions that readers interact with daily, sometimes profoundly: financial planners, cable providers, car dealers, insurance agencies, caterers, contractors, real estate brokers, funeral directors, dentists, personal trainers, college prep counselors, casinos, florists, cruise lines, and more. Based on the popular and addictive "Ten Things They Won't Tell You" column in SmartMoney, The Wall Street Journal magazine, 1,001 Things They Wont Tell You will make every reader a wiser, savvier consumer. The conceit is "what they won't tell you" in each case, the top ten things industry insiders know that you need to know before making a decision. It covers veterinarians: #2. Vaccinating your pet may do more harm than good. Automobile leasing companies: #7. You call it an odometer; we call it a cash register. Tax preparers: #4. What are my qualifications? Well, I'm real good at Sudoku. Nursing homes: #1. We're careless about the drugs we give out. Cruise lines: #2. Our engines break down all the time. Gourmet grocers: #3. This bottled water is actually tap water. Lawyers: #4. You could win your lawsuit and still wind up with nothing. Plastic surgeons: #1. I trained a whole weekend to learn this procedure. The book outlines what you don't know, then arms you with insights, tips, and techniques to make sure you get the best in every area of your life. Health, education, insurance, finance, automobiles, goods and services, food and drink, free time it's everything you literally need to know to save not only money, but also potential headache.

"A smart and fun guide and essential reading for the consumer." Gerri Willis, host, CNN's Your Bottom Line From the Back Cover Buyer beware. Based on the addictive Ten Things They Wont Tell You column in SmartMoney, The Wall Street Journal Magazine, this book is packed with insider secrets and expert knowledge that show you how to take control and manage your money, your health, your material well-being. In all, it covers the top ten things they wont tell you, covering 100 businesses and professions that readers interact with daily, sometimes profoundly. In addition to outlining exactly what you dont know, but need to, it arms readers with insights, tips, and techniques to make each of us a savvier, smarter consumer. Bet You Didnt Know: Your Veterinarian: Vaccinating your pet could do more harm than good. Your Preschool: We serve more junk food than McDonalds. Your Credit Card Company: Debit cards should come with a warning: Use at your own risk. Your Gourmet Grocer: This bottled water is actually tap water. Your Fitness Club: Our trainers dont know what theyre doing. Your Car-Leasing Company: You call it an odometer, we call it a cash register. Your Cruise Line: Our engines break down all the time.